What happens if Fineco Asset Management DAC is unable to pay out?

If the Management Company were to become insolvent, the assets of the Sub-Fund should not be affected because they are held by the Depositary, which is legally required to keep the assets separate from its own assets and those of the Management Company. However, if the Depositary were to become insolvent, there may be a financial loss for the Sub-Fund, but this should be minimized because the assets are held separate to the Depositary's own assets. If the Sub-Fund is closed or dissolved, the assets will be sold and the investors will receive a share of the proceeds, which may be more or less than their initial investment. The FCP is not a guaranteed UCITS and as a result there is no guarantee scheme in place which provides a guaranteed rate of return. The Sub-Fund does not provide compensation or operate a guarantee against any loss in the value of an investment, the funds or any income generated.

What are the costs?

The person advising on or selling you this product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs and how they affect your investment.

Costs over Time

The tables show the amounts that are taken from your investment to cover different types of costs. These amounts depend on how much you invest, how long you hold the product. The amounts shown here are illustrations based on an example investment amount and different investment periods. We have assumed:

- In the first year, you would get back the amount that you invested (0% annual return). For the other holding period we have assumed the product performs as shown in the moderate scenario.
- 10000 EUR is invested.
