The recommended holding period has been selected as the link between the risk and the potential returns of the Sub-Fund and can be fully appreciated only over the recommended holding period. The Sub-Fund is actively managed. The Sub-Fund does not aim to track the performance of a benchmark. Portfolio composition is determined based on active and discretionary investment decisions and choices. There can be no guarantee that the investment objective will actually be attained and investors are explicitly warned that this Sub-Fund is not a capital guaranteed product. Investors can redeem their units on the relevant Dealing Day as set out in the prospectus. Investors can ask for full or partial redemption of the units held.

What happens if Fineco Asset Management DAC is unable to pay out?

If the Management Company were to become insolvent, the assets of the Sub-Fund should not be affected because they are held by the Depositary, which is legally required to keep the assets separate from its own assets and those of the Management Company. However, if the Depositary were to become insolvent, there may be a financial loss for the Sub-Fund, but this should be minimized because the assets are held separate to the Depositary's own assets. If the Sub-Fund is closed or dissolved, the assets will be sold and the investors will receive a share of the proceeds, which may be more or less than their initial investment. The FCP is not a guaranteed UCITS and as a result there is no guarantee scheme in place which provides a guaranteed rate of return. The Sub-Fund does not provide compensation or operate a guarantee against any loss in the value of an investment, the funds or any income generated.
